Dear author(s),

Thank you for your interest and support to IJIES.
I'd like to send the camera-ready version of your final manuscript.
(Note: To prevent illegal revision, the MS-Word file of the camera-ready version is not provided.)
Please check and confirm the attached file, and send the check result within ONE week.
 Please indicate revised points clearly by coloring fonts.

Note:
The camera-ready process is only one time.
To avoid illegal revision, only small revision is permitted.

If you have any question, please contact us with your paper ID.

Best regards,
IJIES Editors

Subject: Submission "Automated Class Diagram Assessment using Semantic and Structural Similarities"

Dear Editor:

Please find enclosed our manuscript entitled "Automated Class Diagram Assessment using Semantic and Structural Similarities," which we request you to consider for publication as a Regular Article in the International Journal of Intelligent Engineering and Systems (IJIES).

Class diagrams show classes in software and the relationships between those classes. A class diagram is a unified modeling language diagram commonly used in education. Thus, an assessment of class diagrams is essential for teachers who usually have students produce class diagrams based on predetermined projects. Teachers assess student-produced class diagrams based on an answer key. However, teachers have a problem with a lack of consistency in assessment as teachers can use different standards between answers. This research attempts to approach class diagram assessment automatically. The proposed approach consists of two assessments: semantic and structural similarities. Semantic similarity is calculated using lexical information in the class diagram, and structural similarity is calculated using the diagram's structure, ignoring its lexical information. Our results show that experts see semantic and structural similarities equally during assessment. The proposed approach shows substantial agreement with experts in class diagram similarity assessment. Therefore, the proposed approach can automatically assess class diagram similarity as reliably as experts can.

This manuscript has not been published elsewhere and is not under consideration by another journal. We have approved the manuscript and agree with submission to International Journal of Intelligent Engineering and Systems (IJIES). There are no conflicts of interest to declare.

We believe that the findings of this study are relevant to the scope of your journal and will be of interest to its readership. The manuscript has been carefully reviewed by an experienced editor whose first language is English and who specializes in editing papers written by scientists whose native language is not English.

We look forward to hearing from you at your earliest convenience.

Best regards,
Reza Fauzan
